

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Plant the seed, grow together.

The Zoo is excited to share a new program with you this summer, Food for Thought! As you visit the Zoo today, you will hear from our staff and volunteers about topics related to food, farms, and healthy eating! We hope this program will spark your interest in learning more and continuing to explore the world around you. Your kit includes:

A reusable tote bag	Notebooks to record your observations	A seed kit you can use to grow an herb plant at home!

After you leave the Zoo today, you can have a grown-up scan this code using the camera feature on a smartphone or tablet, and you will find more ideas on how to explore farms, food, and growing your own food at home on the Zoo's website,

Or visit www.beardsleyzoo.org/food-for-thought

As the summer goes on, the webpage linked above will offer more great ideas about how to connect to the natural world around you! Meanwhile, here are a few things you can do:

Grow food	Find raptors in the sky above you	Visit your local farmer's market

The Food for Thought program is brought to you with funding from the Connecticut State Department of Education (CSDE). CSDE launched the AccelerateCT Education Task Force using funds from the American Recovery Plan and is administered by a partnership between Cooperative Educational Services, Connecticut's Beardsley Zoo and the Green Village Initiative.
